

Conference Goal and Objectives

This is a full-day accredited medical education conference bringing together multi-disciplinary practitioners to address the management of IBD from preconception to postpartum care. The goal of MCIBD 2020 is to improve the care for women with IBD preconception and during pregnancy and peripartum.

The conference objectives include:

- Reviewing the importance of multi-disciplinary care for women with IBD planning a pregnancy
- Discussing the medical and surgical management of IBD during preconception, pregnancy, and peripartum
- Exploring practical considerations regarding nutrition, delivery and breastfeeding for women with IBD
